

Increased voice, data service rates for Ghanaians

Ghanaians are experiencing increased rates on voice and data services from some telecommunication companies due to the rise in taxes by the government, reports Modern Ghana.

© photka - Fotolia.com

For more:

- Modern Ghana: Ghanaians to pay more for telecom services... The report further states that the Ghana Chamber of Telecommunications CEO, Kwaku Sakyi Addo, said in an interview with CitiFM that "tariffs in the industry are determined independently but it depends on how each network operator reads the market." According to Addo, the increased rates are justified due to the increment in taxes, tariffs and petroleum products.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>