OFM, the sound of Central South Africa, is looking for new talent to join its stellar line-up of radio presenters. The popular talent search competition, The Radio Voice, was previously won by current breakfast special presenter, Yolanda Maartens, who has gone on to have a highly successful presenting career at OFM.

Auditions for The Radio Voice will take place in January 2016. They will be held on 26 January at OFM's studio in the Matlosana Mall in Klerksdorp and on 27 and 28 January at OFM's studio at Central Media Park in Bloemfontein.

Says OFM General Manager, Nick Efstathiou: "We are always on the look-out for new talent to join our talent pool. The Radio Voice is an opportunity for someone to make a lifelong dream of being a radio presenter a reality! In the past, the competition has unearthed some highly talented individuals and we cannot wait to see what this round of auditions will produce."

Contestants must be older than 18 and will be able to do the auditions in Afrikaans or English. To prepare for the audition, they must download a script, which will be available on the OFM website in early January 2016.
