

Tin Can wins management consulting account

Communication specialist Tin Can Communications has been appointed publicist and event management consultant for TPI Corporation, a technology outsourcing and process management consultancy, and the new vendor representative for Compass, a global performance improvement consultancy.

Tin Can will be responsible for promoting TPI and its vendors and service lines, which include outsourcing risk management and value delivery, management and sustaining of value delivery from technology investments, company performance improvement studies and deal structuring.

Tin Can was also recently appointed the South African publicist and agent for Australian sports commentator and author Peter Murray.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>