

Are South Africans congenitally boring?

Having suffered for the cause and submitted myself to several episodes of The Block, I can only conclude that South Africans are the most boring people on the planet.

With the exception of half of the gay couple, the rest are supremely dull. The young eye candyfloss couple, the sweet but bland black couple, the ghastly whiny FNB marketing chick.

Surely the producers could have cast more interesting, less annoying people?

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>