

Fairlady finalists ready for next stage

The Fairlady Women of the Future Awards 2016, in partnership with Santam, has announced its finalists for 2016, in the categories of Woman of the Future and Rising Star. Winners will be announced in August.

Woman of the Future finalists

- Jessica Bonin (Lady Bonin`s Tea) - owner of an all female-run company that produces its own tea
- Katherine-Mary Pichulik (Pichulik) - owner of a contemporary African jewellery and accessories brand
- Khaya Cokoto (X Spark) - owner of a company specialising in web and graphic design, and app and software development. The company also offers branding and social media services, 3D design and printing
- Lauren de Swardt (Kids Emporium) - nationwide franchise of 28 stores with the latest ranges of furniture, décor, maternity & children`s wear and toy store
- Sarah Collins (Wonderbag) - owner of a revolutionary non-electric heat-retention cooker
- Sarika Modi (Triple Eight) - owner of a company that works with major consumer brands in making a positive impact on people, the planet and profits through their marketing and CSR initiatives
- Tiffini Wissing (Old School Cool) - provides safety-conscious parents with transport vehicles for their children that are fitted with the latest safety technology, onboard cameras and live tracking

Rising Star finalists

- Lebo Mphela (Malia Nail Care) - produces a local nail polish brand
- Liebre Eigelaar (FruitLips) - produces home-grown bespoke jams, marmalades and chutneys
- Moyin Oloruntoba (The A1) - produces online entertainment content geared towards youth culture

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>