

Nominations open for African Leadership Persons of the Year 2019

African Leadership magazine has called for nominations for its prestigious annual African Leadership Persons of the Year Award.

The board, and management of African Leadership magazine invites nominations from Africans and friends of Africa from across the globe.

Do you have an African Hero or heroine? Is he or She breaking or setting records in service to humanity, impacting society, and making our world a better place? Does he or she deserve to be the ideal Person of the Year in their diverse callings - inspiring the future generation of African leaders? Now is the time to honour them on a global platform, the magazine says.

African Leadership is a publication of African Leadership (UK) Limited and has opened nominations for the 2019 Persons of the Year in the following categories:

- African of the Year 2019: This recognition is open to an African whose actions have greatly impacted the continent positively in the year under review and helped shape his or her immediate society and continues to inspire globally.
- African Female Leader of the Year 2019: This recognition is open to an African woman who has defied the odds, risen above the patriarchal systems in the continent to positively affect the continent or influence women to aspire for excellence in various fields.
- ALM Person of the Year 2019 - Educational Development: This recognition is open to an African, whose contribution to the growth of education and deepening knowledge has been second to none in the year under review. It is also reserved for a member of the academia whose research or policy has contributed to shaping his or her country's economic growth and development.
- ALM Person of the Year 2019 - Employment Generation: This recognition is open to an African, whose actions, policies and business has helped in creating jobs for Africans in the year under review.
- ALM Person of the Year 2019 - Political Leadership: This recognition is open to an African, whose contribution has immensely contributed to deepening democracy and democratic values in the continent.
- ALM Person of the Year 2019 - Philanthropy & Charitable Contributions to Society: This recognition is open to an African, who has given more to support a charitable cause, social justice and promote social good.
- ALM Young Person of the Year 2019: Criteria - must be between the ages of 18-38; young persons of African descent, making a difference globally via diverse sectors such as business, IT, entertainment, sports, etc, remaining a positive role model and re-defining creativity, resilience; hard work and ingenuity of the continent's young people.

This is the first step in a lengthy and vote-based process towards the emergence of the Persons of the Year 2019, which will culminate into who would eventually emerge the winners of the prestigious African Leadership Magazine Persons of the Year 2019.

Nominations are open to Africans and friends of Africa, and nominees can be business, political, or community leaders, who have contributed immensely to Africa and her people.
