

Atlantic Lithium says it is confident of getting mining lease in Ghana

Atlantic Lithium said on Monday, 7 August, the Africa-focused company was confident of getting lease for a lithium mine in Ghana following the approval of a green minerals policy by the country's government.

By Seher Dareen 8 Aug 2023

Source: jarous © 123RF.com

The company said the new policy included "changes to the mining royalty rate and the state's carried interest in minerals projects" and that Atlantic Lithium was in talks with Ghana's Minerals Commission.

In 2021, Piedmont Lithium invested $100m in the company to secure spodumene, or high-purity lithium ore from Atlantic Lithium's mine in Ghana.

MINING

Energy transition driving unprecedented growth in critical minerals market - report

14 Jul 2023

In March, short seller Blue Orca Capital alleged Atlantic Lithium obtained key Ghana mining licenses by making secret payments. The company had rejected the allegations.