

Ghanasoccernet relaunches website

Ghanasoccernet, earlier this week, announced the launch of a new version of its website. The new site plans to provide integrated, updated content of Ghanaian and African football.

The new design aims to offer a consistent and intuitive user experience with easier navigation. "We decided to keep the website as simple and plain as possible, to give our readers unobstructed access to the latest soccer news," says a release from the publication.

Benedict Papa-Yaw Sarpong, CEO of Ghanasoccernet, said: "The refreshed website comes at a critical moment in the development of the internet and football news industry in Africa. It is the first step to transforming Ghanasoccernet.com into a much richer and more engaging experience."

The website will feature live picture feeds, and news on world football and aims to provide an avenue for fans to interact with one another through a forum and comments section on the news pages.
