

Woolies and the frog that croaked

NEWSWATCH: Woolworths is in the news because of a frog a customer claims to have found in his Woolies salad, reports Times Live, which also reports Siyaya TV is finally open for business...

This is not the frog the customer claims to have found in his Italian salad, but we included this image to illustrate the Newswatch. (Image: Public Domain)

For more:

- Times Live: Woolies' surprise ingredient... And this little froggie went to market... Woolworths is again in trouble with consumers, this time because of a frog that a customer said he found in a packet of "Italian salad" leaves.

Every so often one might find a caterpillar in a head of lettuce, for example, but to find a frog - a dead one at that - would be likely to upset the coolest of customers.

- Times Live: Siyaya TV finally open for business - after 'costly' delay... Siyaya TV is finally open for business after a three-month licence delay for the pay-TV newcomers.

The launch won't be immediate however... according to the Times Live report, "the broadcasters are expected to go on air in June next year".

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>