

GOTv launched in SA

M-Net has just unveiled its new digital terrestrial television service for South Africa, called GOTv. GOTv will use digital network towers throughout South Africa, much like cellphone companies are currently doing. Customers will need to check if they fall within the coverage areas and will also need a decoder to access the signal.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>