Menar opens applications for its annual MJT programme

Menar is now accepting applications for its fifth Mining Journalism Training (MJT) course, which is designed for journalists and journalism students and offers a free certificate programme to a maximum of 20 participants.

Visit Menar's website for more information and to submit your application.

For more, visit: https://www.bizcommunity.com